Multiplier conference 13 –14 November 2012

Dear Sir /Madame,
If you like computer games, you are fascinated with secret services and you are involved in language teaching, we are pleased to invite you to our Multiplier conference, which will take place in an exciting surrounding of the Bavarian forest, Cham (Germany) on 13 – 14 of November 2012. The conference will sum up activities that have taken place over two years of European cooperation of the I SPY project.

The objectives of the conference are:

- to present the partners experiences in provision of language teaching with use of ICT
- to present the main outputs and products of the project “I SPY”
- to exploit the network on regional, national and European levels
- to facilitate the exchange of good practices among participants about how to introduce new media and technology in language learning
- to promote unconventional, attractive methods of language learning for young people
- to share a common discourse about the importance of language learning among language providers, stakeholders.

The Multiplier conference is also an excellent opportunity for the presentation of other language learning initiatives and projects.

The Call for Papers is addressed to language teachers, experts and researchers engaged in the process of language learning and use of ICT.

If you are interested in giving input to the conference, please submit an abstract of a paper to present during the conference. The abstract should be written in English (between 300 – 500 words), Arial 11 and sent via e-mail to projects@vhs-cham.de by the 30th of July 2012 the latest. All applicants will be informed about of notification of acceptance or rejection the latest on the 25th of August.

The applicant of the accepted abstract will receive reimbursement of travel costs, the costs of accommodation and meals will be covered by the project.
